And now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

1 Corinthians 13:4-5

“ ...Lessons my father taught me, in the way he lived his life

...Looking for Troubles

Be thankful for the troubles of your job. They provide about half your income, because if it were not for the things that go wrong, the difficult people you have to deal with, and the problems and unpleasantness of your working day, someone could be found to handle your job for half of what you are being paid.

It takes intelligence, resourcefulness, patience, tact and courage to meet the troubles of any job. That is why you hold your present job and it may be the reason you aren't holding down an even bigger one.

If all of us would start to look for more troubles, and learn to handle them cheerfully and with good judgment, as opportunities rather than irritations, we would find ourselves getting ahead at a surprising rate. For it is a fact that there are plenty of big jobs waiting for men and women who aren't afraid of the troubles connected with them.

By Robert R Updegraff

...3 Pillars

1) People are more important, than STUFF!

2) Own your decisions! People might not agree with you, but they will respect your decision!

3) The Biggest things in life, take the most GRIT! ["GRIT"-is delayed satisfaction (sacrifice), to achieve a goal]

THE BUDGET

- Budget for the expected
- Budget for the unexpected
- If your budget doesn't match lifestyle expectations you have only two choices. Either INCREASE your budget, or LOWER your expectations!

MICHAEL.....In ALL you do!

...In your speech:

Be clear, brief, and speak in complete sentences. Get to your point quickly. In this world, the only thing more boring than someone who won't come to the point is someone who keeps talking after he's made his point!

...In your relations:

Be relentlessly, trustworthy and honest. Where there is trust, no proof is necessary. Where there is none, no proof is possible, and "getting it in writing" won't make much difference!

...In your presentation:

Be modest and humble. Boasters and braggarts are a bore and never make themselves welcome!

...In your conflicts:

Show respect to all, but grovel before none. Be prepared to do what is true, good, and right, even when it is not understood, nor popular!

...In your work:

Be of good service. Live to advance your Art. Seek to do more than merely occupy space. Civilization needs to benefit from your presence!

...In yourself:

Don't pretend. Confront facts, even ugly ones, squarely and honestly. Don't con your friends, and don't con yourself! "Dream worlds" are always anguished and short-lived.

...In your struggle:

Confront the fact that you are less than perfect! Strive to minimize your blemishes. Against your last day, make sure your flaws die before you do!

...In your death:

Be not like those whose hearts are filled with fear, so that when their time comes, they weep and whine, because they are unacquainted with the True Way and have no hope.

Sing your Death Song only once and then step across the Great Divide, never looking back- like a hero... going home.

Love you, Dad
