“ Julie and Family, I always loved coming to your home, seeing your mom and dad. Your mom always reminded me of a Kennedy, with her class and poise. She was someone you could talk to right away - about anything. I'm sorry for your loss, losing your mom is like losing part of yourself. She lived a great life. My sincerest condolences. “ Dear Post Family: What a loss for all of Rose Ann's friends and for Hamilton! She brightened any room she entered. She taught me about going to state schools after age 60, and I have had great pleasure from doing so. She inspired me to keep learning, and to be as kind as she was to everyone she encountered.

“ The year was 1980---I was a nervous, shy seventh grade student at Garfield Junior High not sure at all about the big, new building or all of the new teachers I would have. Yet, when I walked into my English classroom and was greeted by Mrs. Post, I instantly felt at home. She was the light of my school career. I fell in love with English---even diagramming sentences with Mrs. Post was fun! I fell in love with the school newspaper which she supervised, and I fell in love with her. I was fortunate to have her again in my 8th grade year as well. After I left GJH, I continued on with the newspaper at Hamilton High determined to be a famous journalist, always with the plan in mind to make sure and make Mrs. Post proud. At Miami University, those plans changed a bit. I decided that instead of being a journalist, I wanted to be an English teacher just like the most amazing woman I had ever met. I've been teaching now for 27 years---English, 8th grade, and I still use some of the lessons I learned from Mrs. Post in my own classroom.

Not only did she inspire me as a student, but she became a dear friend. We continued to keep in touch with letters and cards over the years. She visited me after my first child was born. I visited her as well. We had lunch, shared stories, and most of all, shared in her wonderful smile, her thoughtfulness, dynamic personality, and brilliance She was my role model for teaching and for life---if I am able to be just a little bit like this amazing lady, my life will be fulfilled. She will be greatly missed, continually celebrated, and always loved.

“ Geoff, my first meeting with RA was when she came to babysit your kids, as you know. It was just about love at first sight for me, immediate rapport, and friends forever. We sat at the bar at Dalts...I don't know where the kids were that night, haha!, having cocktails and onion rings and laughing our heads off! She is in my heart and soul always, I loved her so much. I am celebrating sweet memories of your dear mother. Much love, Jeanne and Bill

“ Rose Ann continued to think of others first even during her final battle for her life. She called me the day before she was being moved to hospice to express her concern for my health. As I told her more than a quarter of a century ago, she was my model for courage and strength. During her first bout with cancer, each time I visited her after school she would greet me at the door with a big smile and the words, "I've fixed you a snack because I know you're always hungry after school," and when I asked how she felt, she would say, "I'm fine. Now tell me about Garfield." This is the Rose Ann Post I will remember. Margie Barrett
