“ Growing up, kids need adults than can look up to and emulate. Chuck was right there at the top. He and Patsy were my second parents that my old friend Tom & I tested many a time as we grew up. I remember a soft spoken man of character, with a great sense of humor that everyone couldn't help but to respect and love. He had the patience of Job but when he meant it, man you'd better listen. His legacy is his love for his wonderful family and the friends and people he touched and made their lives better in knowing him. Divine Providence has now called him home. He will be greatly missed, but our peace comes from the life he lead and the faith he had that gives us all hope.

“ Patsy I am sorry for your loss. Sometimes God knows best and I pray peace and comfort to you and family. I remember when we had the little restaurant there in Main St. Chuck would come in for breakfast and always wanted poached eggs. He said no one made them like I did. I always enjoyed talking to him. Be blessed and have good memories. Love and prayers Lill Wyatt
