“ OHHHH Ellen, and Family,

Growing up in Mcgonigle was special. I met you, your Mom, and the rest of the Lowes there.. Your Mom had those pretty flowers that she displayed every year at the Butler County Fair. She canned a lot of green beans, and they were good!

I remember having fun at your house, running around back, and sleep overs! Your Mom would fix us something to eat in the morning. You told me that your Mom ironed everything, including your sheets and underwear. I read recently that ironing your sheets is actually good for them.- Grace was ahead of the curve there.

She always had something to talk about and that wonderful laugh! I certainly see a lot of her traits in you.

Rest assured that she and your Dad Bill are reunited and with Jesus in Heaven. Your Dad is up there with Snoopy his dog, and your Mom is tending the Strawberries.

Now I have to get back to work, so I will wipe my tears of loss and joy away, and think of you and yours on Saturday. May the day be full of reminiscing, tears, and laughter. and full of a wonderful Mom who lived a very full life.
