“ Amy,

We are so terribly sorry for your loss. Mere words cannot express our sympathy for you and your young family, but please know that you are in our thoughts and prayers. Josh is now God's care, but so are you - surrounded by your loving family and friends. May God's grace and peace give you comfort in this most difficult time.

“ Words cannot express how truly sorry I am to hear about Josh. He was truly one of the nicest and good hearted people I have ever known. I have so many good memories with Josh from playing ball in High School to just hanging out in college and the years beyond. He will be missed by all of us who knew him. I will be praying for you all through this time.

“ My deepest sympathies to Josh's family. I worked with Josh for many years and never a cross word was exchanged. Icarus flew and so did Josh his triumph cut short by an illness.
We will miss you Josh.

“ Amy, I've read and re-read Josh's obituary...looked at his picture...tried to think of the right thing to say...but I don't think there is really a "right" thing to say, other than: You, your children, his parents, his grandparents, and his many friends, lost a good, kind-hearted soul--husband, father, son, grandson, friend--way too soon. The time we worked together wasn't always good times, but regardless of what was going on professionally, he always asked how my wife & kids were, how I was doing if there was something going on in my life that he knew was bothering me. And when I would ask him about you and the kids, his tone changed. His mood lightened, because there was nothing he enjoyed talking about more than you and your children. Even though there is no such thing as a perfect marriage, he and I both agreed that the love we had for our wives was eternal.

Even though Josh's time on Earth was short, he touched a lot of people.

Thoughts & Prayers to you and your family.

“ Amy, Kate, Luke, Jackson, and Mr. & Mrs. Ollis
I had the pleasure of knowing Josh since high school. I consider myself fortunate to call him a true friend over the last 20 + years. As you know Amy, there are so many memories that I look back on and can smile and laugh about. You hear people say "He's never met a stranger." This certainly rings true about Josh. He had a huge heart and valued his many friendships. But more importantly he cherished his family. I will miss hearing his laugh, our phone conversations, his witty elephant like memory, and simply hanging with him. The best way I can describe him and will remember him is: genuine.

Will miss you Josh, God Bless your family
