“ *Dear Grammel and Randall families.
Our prayers and sympathy go to you. Bob will be sorely missed. We enjoyed all of our times with him. We particularly enjoyed visiting with him at the yearly hog roasts and witnessing his and Carol's restating their wedding vows. He was always pleasant, interesting and kind. He was such a talented builder. His singing in the church choir was a true gift.
Love and Prayers, Doug and Linda Sweazy*

“ We lost a good friend with Bob’s passing. Some memories take me back a few years to when a group of volunteers remodeled the Chancel in St. Mark’s. It was a huge undertaking that spanned several weeks. Bob’s working commitments kept him being part of the daily crew, but he often stopped by to offer his advice. His experience in construction gave him credibility and we valued his opinion. He teased us unmercifully as well, and we reciprocated. It took four of us to stay even with Bob’s wisecracks. It was a high point in his day, and his visits made our day as well.

He always responded when we asked for his help. He knew all manner of ways of doing things that made the tasks easier.

Bob possessed a quick sense of humor. And he gave as well as he received. Hidden from view in several locations of that construction are written the words “Grammel & Son Construction.” Bob’s spirit was with us as we worked, and so we included his name for posterity. He chuckled whenever he saw our scribbled tribute.

Bob was gifted with a fine, mellow tenor voice. It always was a pleasure to hear him sing. It’s a good thing he had a good sense of humor because in the choir he sat between me and Danny Thomas. Like dealing with children prone to misbehave in school, Choir Director Chris Beiser seated the three of us in the front row directly in front of his music stand. Nice try, but we still cut up.

Thanks for the memories, Bob. Your name is written on our hearts, too.
